

Amazon Turns Gears of Internet Tax Wars (E-Commerce Times)

Contributed by Webmaster
Thursday, 02 July 2009
Last Updated Thursday, 02 July 2009

More info...

More companies are joining in the fight over Internet taxation begun by Amazon.com. Blue Nile and Overstock.com have joined the Web's largest retailer in dropping affiliate programs in North Carolina and Rhode Island, according to numerous press reports. Amazon also reportedly dropped its affiliate program in Hawaii.

Jairus Limited Spinning Golden Profits for Its Internet Marketing Clients in Spite of Global Recession (PRWeb via Yahoo! News)

Web development firm adds search engine optimization to its list of services. A modern-day Rumpelstiltskin, Jairus Limited is spinning the recession's near-worthless straw into profitable gold for its clientele. With a 10-year track record in successful business optimization and email marketing strategies the company has announced that it has branched out to offer effective search engine ...

Internet Business

{mos_sb_discuss:2}